Kip Wainscott is a litigator and public policy attorney, and concentrates his practice in the areas of political law, legislative counseling, and dispute resolution. He has counseled nonprofit, corporate, and political clients on a range of policy issues and strategies, as well as issues related to election law and government ethics. He has also represented clients in both state and federal court, and before federal administrative bodies.

Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Wainscott was a law clerk for the United States Senate Judiciary Committee where he assisted counsel to the Subcommittee on Terrorism, Technology, and Homeland Security. He has also worked on a variety of political and issue campaigns at the federal, state, and local levels.

As a law student, Mr. Wainscott earned recognition for outstanding oral advocacy while competing at the Willem C. Vis Competition in Hong Kong, and was Senior Editor of the George Washington International Affairs Review. He currently serves on the National Executive Committee and as Washington Director of the New Leaders Council, and contributes time to pro bono legal efforts and various political causes.
